

32 Professional Ethics for Managers and Supervisors

1-day programme

Managers and supervisors hold significant power over the people they lead. This programme helps them exercise that power responsibly, fairly, and with a clear understanding of their professional obligations.

What you'll learn

- The ethical responsibilities that come with managerial authority
- How to manage conflicts of interest and maintain professional boundaries
- Confidentiality obligations and how to handle sensitive information
- Fairness, consistency, and accountability in everyday management decisions

Who is it for

Managers, supervisors, and team leaders at all levels who want to develop a clearer understanding of their professional ethical obligations.

Duration

1-day programme

Outcomes

Managers leave with a clearer ethical framework for their role and practical strategies for exercising their authority fairly, consistently, and with integrity.
